with Betty Allen...

Campbell firemen are getting pretty uneasy these days. The reason? The last fire of any importance occurred June 29 when the house, occupied by Tex Randall and his family and located in the rear of Jones Service Station, burned completely. By Sept. 28 the longest record in the history of the fire department for length of time with no fires had been established. On that day firemen were called to extinguish a small grass fire. More than three months has passed since that day, setting a new record, and firemen are bracing themselves for something big any minute.

Evidently the County Planning Commission has no aversion to giving Los Gatos industrial zoning for the Los Gatos Planning Commission has been requested to make recommendations on the desirability of establishing a light industrial zone in the Farley Road area.

A familiar landmark will be missing from now on. Lloyd Buffington has moved the street car which has stood in a field on Hamilton Ave. near Winchester for these many years past. The eight-acre tract on which it stood has been sold and will be subdivided.

The street car was a relic of the Peninsular Railway which ran from San Jose to Palo Alto. Buffington bought the car because he'd "always wanted a street car."

An epidemic of malicious mischief has broken out on N. First St. Saturday morning residents of the street rose to discover that the air had been let out of the tires of more than a dozen cars. Men were late to work and housewives greatly inconvenienced. Not one of the people thought it was even remotely funny and the consensus of opinion in the neighborhood is that things have gone far enough. To top it all off, several windows have been broken—the big plate glass kind that cost a lot to replace.

A letter from Mrs. Florence Jones in Glendale reports that her son, Harold, who is in his senior year at Wheaton College in Illinois, spent the holidays with friends in Princeton, New Jersey. The Joneses keep up with the news of Campbell and their Campbell friends through the columns of The Press.

Much interest is being shown in the new proposed county-wide sewer district which would do away with local districts such as Campbell's and establish a system for the whole county. The new subdivisions surrounding Campbell have not been able to hook onto the Campbell sewer system because there is only one main which goes to San Jose and is regulated by San Jose. Hence all are forced to use septic tanks. Charles DeSelle, chairman of the Campbell Sanitary Board, says that he is all for the county-wide plan and believes that it would be for the good of both Campbell and the entire county to enter into such a plan.

Campbell had the first baby of the new year in the county when a daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Baylor at one minute after 12 New Year's Day. The Bayers live at Rt. 1, Box 135, and the baby's father is a teacher at San Jose High School. The New Year's arrival is their second child.

Did you know that Bert Robinson, son of the Arthur Robinsons and an ex-Campbell High School student, was the star player in the Raisin Bowl game at Fresno on New Year's day?

GIVE FAREWELL PARTY

As a farewell party for Mrs. Pearl Mears, members of the congregation of the Church of Christ entertained New Year's Eve at the home of their minister and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Hamilton. Mrs. Mears, who has made her home here for the past year, left yesterday for a six months' trip through the Middle West to visit friends and relatives.

Navy Error Brings War Buddies Together

A wrong address climaxed over four years of questions in the mind of Commander William L. Strangman, USN, of Campbell, as to what had happened to his friend Robert C. Crawford, a Navy pharmacist's mate from Oakland, Calif., whom he had last seen in the Bilibid Prison Camp in the Philippines.

By a quirk of fate, a citation for heroism which accompanied a Bronze Star Medal to be awarded to Crawford was given the wrong address and ended up in the San Francisco Office of Naval Officer Procurement in the Ferry Building instead of the Marine Corps Department of the Pacific at 100 Harrison Street where Crawford, now a Chief Pharmacist's Mate, is on duty.

When someone asked him if he knew a Crawford, Commander Strangman remembered the pharmacist's mate whom he had seen bravely care for wounded on Corregidor, and was relieved to learn that his friend whom he had served with in the Fourth Marines was still alive.

However a check around that office failed to reveal the location of Crawford and the citation and medal were sent back to Washington, D. C., for re-routing. Then two weeks later Strangman heard it mentioned that a pharmacist mate over at the Department of the Pacific had also been captured by the Japanese on Corregidor. A check revealed that this man was Crawford.

By this time the medal and citation had returned to San Francisco—this time to the proper place and arrangements were made so that Strangman could present the medal to Crawford. Recently in the Commanding General's office at the Department of the Pacific, there was a reunion. With 22 other survivors of the heroic Corregidor stand looking on, Commander Strangman pinned the Bronze Star Medal on Chief Pharmacist Mate Crawford's breast.

Strangman graduated from the University of Southern California Dental School in 1940 and immediately entered the Naval Dental Corps. After a year of duty at Annapolis, Strangman was assigned to the Asiatic Fleet and subsequently to duty with the Fourth Marines in Shanghai. When the Marines left Shanghai a week before the Pearl Harbor attack, Strangman moved with them to the Philippines and was captured along with other survivors of action on Corregidor. After confinement in Philippine prison camps, he was shipped to Japan where he was held in the Niigata Prison Camp in northwestern Honshu. Presently the commander, who wears the Silver Star, is serving as a procurement officer enlisting men for the Navy's four-year scholarship ROTC and college aviation programs.

CHURCH TO HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the Congregational Church will be held Wednesday evening. Reports will be given by the officers and the chairmen of the church committees. The new officers will be elected for the coming year. Preceding the annual meeting there will be a fellowship supper.

HOUSE RANSACKED

Mrs. Jim Enyart reported that while she was away for the week-end her house at 191 Dillon was entered and ransacked. Among other things taken was a white fur coat.

Next week's Press will again be published on Friday because a concrete floor will be put in the Press office next week and all the machinery will have to be moved.

Vandals Wreck Electric Sign

If you noticed that only the "cer" in the Mercer Electric Co.'s neon sign was glowing, it wasn't because Max Mercer, owner of the company, didn't know it. On the contrary he was only too aware of it for the defect in the sign was caused by malicious damage and it wasn't the first time either! It was the third time that the sign has been put out of commission by throwing walnuts against the tubing.

Each time the sign has been repaired it has cost Mercer $40 or, to date, a total of $120. Similar damage was done some time ago to the Rutherford Funeral Parlor sign.

When asked if he favored incorporation, Mercer said: "Certainly! We need police protection here badly. A night watchman on foot and a constable who has many varied duties cannot possibly protect a town of this size. Both Evans and Lanphear do a good job but we need a prowl car and at least two full time policemen."

"I own property within the proposed incorporated area and I will gladly pay any additional taxes that may be levied for I feel the benefits will more than justify them. Those residents who put their own pocketbooks ahead of the community good, might find that it is cheaper to incorporate than not to."

J. P. Graff Returns From Denmark

Returning in time for Christmas was J. P. Graff who sailed last May for a lengthy visit with friends and relatives in Denmark. It was the first time in 45 years that he had seen his family.

The trip home, made by air, was considerably shorter than the trip over via a freighter carrying a load of Santa Clara prunes although Graff's plane was held for 24 hours in Ireland due to weather conditions.

While in Denmark he attended the golden wedding anniversary of his sister and brother-in-law.

During his six months' visit Graff saw conditions improve with great rapidity. His gifts to his family overseas consisted of yardage, thread, needles, snaps, buttons and other necessities for making clothes since these were the things they most wanted and needed. Now, he reports, there are plenty of clothes and food. Wages are almost as high as they are here, he says.

To celebrate his return, his daughter, Mrs. James Glenn, N. Harrison, was hostess for a family Christmas party. An out-of-town guest was her sister, Mrs. Marjorie Langford of Los Angeles, who was accompanied by her son, Bobby.

ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGE TAX DISTRIBUTED

Santa Clara County and the cities in the county received $69,623 from the state-collected alcoholic beverage control tax during calendar 1945, California Taxpayers' Association said today, making public the first section of its study of the share in state-collected taxes that local governments receive.

Cities in the county received $46,055 and the county received $23,568 the association found.

One-half of the receipts from annual license fees of 25 varieties imposed on alcoholic beverage production or sales operations in California are apportioned to the cities and counties in proportion to the collection from each. State law requires local authorities to enforce the provisions of the alcoholic beverage control act.

Since Campbell is not an incorporated city, its share of the alcoholic beverage tax is only that which is spent by the county.

Benson & Jeffers To Occupy New Store Building

Benson and Jeffers, men's wear and cleaning establishment, will be the occupants of the new store building being constructed adjacent to the new Post Office.

Completely modern, the store will be 25 by 80 feet with the latest in lighting fixtures and attractive solid glass doors.

George Jeffers and Lowell Benson, owners of the business, say that they are planning to put in a complete line of men's and boys' shoes in addition to the numerous lines they now carry. Plans are also under foot to streamline the cleaning end of the business with the latest in cleaning equipment. Some of the new machinery for this has already arrived and other items are on order.

The new cleaning equipment will enable them to offer a faster service.

Now being stored on the present premises of the business are several attractive new showcases of the latest design. Constructed and lighted to display merchandise, the new cabinets are painted in "masculine" colors of chocolate brown with accents of dusty rose.

Benson and Jeffers hope to be in their new quarters by the first of March or sooner if construction is completed before that date. John Lynden is building the store and Post Office.

Straws in the Wind

Vern Balcon, theater manager: "We certainly need incorporation here for a great many reasons. If we had a curfew law or youth activities of some kind, the group of boys who hang around the front of the theater because it's the only bright spot in town could be dispersed. I can have no authority over them when they are out of the foyer. Incorporation would help with the traffic problem, lower our fire insurance rates and lead to the establishment of a bank. Then those of us who have to carry fairly large sums of money at night would not have to carry guns for our own protection."

Herbert Shadle, druggist and member of County Planning Commission: "I have always been in favor of incorporation and certainly would not object to paying more taxes for the benefits of incorporation. You never get anything unless you pay for it."

Mrs. H. F. Cousins, president, Country Woman's Club: "I definitely believe that incorporation would be good for Campbell. The town has grown beyond its present clumsy form of government."

Tony Raffanti, owner of Tony's Busy Bee: "I am all for incorporation because we certainly need more supervision in the way of law and order. I also feel that the town of Campbell should receive its half of the tax collected here for the sale of alcoholic beverages instead of having that considerable sum going to the county."

Mrs. Edna Smith, retired publisher: "I do not believe that there could be an increase in taxes that would not be offset by the advantages of incorporation."

POPULATION HITS NEW HIGH

Population of Santa Clara County is at a new high, with 243,000 people estimated to be in the county as of January 1, 1947, California Taxpayers' Association said today, making public its annual estimate of population of California counties.

Final estimate of the population of the county for a year ago is 230,000 the association said. For January, 1945, the estimate was 219,000. The April, 1940, Federal census showed 174,949 people in the county. The 1947 estimate shows a gain of 68,100 people or 39 per cent from the census.

Population of the entire state is estimated at 9,420,000 for January, 1947.

Highlights In The News Of Campbell During '46

Harrison States Platform

"Police protection alone would justify any increase in taxes under incorporation," says William Harrison, one of the five candidates for city council in the coming incorporation election. "I believe that Campbell needs incorporation and that it would be beneficial not only for the present but for the future. I have no political ambitions but I am willing to do anything I can to help. If I am elected, I will do my best to do a good job for the people of Campbell."

"We do not have to have a city hall to run our city efficiently. We can rent a small office space and practice other economies to give the people a thrifty run city."

Harrison, a native of Atlanta, Georgia, came here in 1934 as a member of the regular Navy. The Santa Clara Valley and Campbell in particular so won his affections that he has made his home here ever since. He married a local girl and they and their two children live at 88 Alice Ave.

The prospective councilman is engaged in business in San Jose and is a member of the Masonic Lodge.

Councilmen will receive no remuneration for their work and the only paid positions will be that of part-time treasurer and city clerk as designated by the laws governing sixth class cities.

On the slate for councilmen are Joseph Gomes, William Wolff, Earl Buck, Ray Fish and William Harrison. Earl Brydon is running for city clerk and the only position offering competition is that of city treasurer for which Mrs. Claudine Hancock and Mrs. Mae Greaves are running.

The incorporation election is set for Jan. 23 with a central polling place in the IOOF Hall.

New Industry Seeks Location

Surveys designed to provide the basis for the selection of a community in Central California that would be suitable for the establishment of a biscuit, cracker and flour mill plant have been undertaken by the Burry Biscuit Corp. preliminary to the broadening of the corporation's merchandising activities in the Pacific Coast area, now confined to a limited variety of its baked specialties.

Quite a number of towns in an 80-mile radius to the north, east and south of Oakland, it was disclosed at Elizabeth, N. J., company headquarters by George W. Burry, president, have been recommended as possible plant locations by Burry engineers who just concluded an initial tour of the area. Data relating to the various communities, Mr. Burry explained, are being collated and analyzed in an endeavor to determine which best might serve the corporation's needs in that respect.

"Although each of the suggested towns possesses many of the attributes which we regard as essential," Mr. Burry pointed out, "we feel that any choice must await completion of home office and field studies regarding (1) the availability of acreage, accessible to transportation facilities, for the construction of plant buildings, and (2) the availability of men and women workers to the number of several hundred."

Chamber of Commerce officers report that there is no site in Campbell now zoned for industry which could accommodate such a project although the community meets the requirements in regard to acreage, transportation facilities and availability of labor.

As 1947 gets under way, a backward glance at 1946 shows Campbell residents a year of change and development, unparalleled in the history of the town. Changes and growth are evidenced by the increased valuation of the town, the twenty or so new businesses, the tremendous subdivision developments, the large influx of new residents and, perhaps most important of all, a growing sense of responsibility toward the community and a confidence in its future as shown by the coming incorporation election.

Since Campbell is not a sharply defined area figures for building permits are not available but the naked eye, watching the houses and buildings springing up in Campbell proper and its surrounding territory, can see that this total would be a staggering one.

A glance at the headlines of the Press for 1946 are full of interest for those interested in the community:

In January the Chamber of Commerce originated the petition for industrial zoning which would permit new industries to locate here and offer year-round employment; the Bowdoin home burned completely; the Campbell Press received its new newspaper press and the Taste Good Bakery its new oven in the same week; and the Campbell Water Company took a census of the Water District, reporting the total number of residents in that district at 3251.

February saw the Rev. Robert Carlson ordained a minister of the Congregational Church; the testimony of employees of the Cozy Cafe in the McMonigle trial; the $50,000 Cambrian Hardware Co. fire; the annual Old Settlers' Day celebration; and the beginning of construction on the Seventh Day Adventist Church at Rincon and Fourth.

In March activities for the incorporation of Campbell began with the appointment of a new committee on fact-finding for incorporation by the Chamber of Commerce.

During April the Campbell Taxpayers' Association was formed.

In May Campbell Products Co. began processing potatoes for alcohol, a new process here; Drew's Cannery, hitherto locally owned, was sold to Hunt's Foods Inc.; Laurance Hill was named as president of the Campbell Union High School to succeed James Dent, resigning principal; and the bond issue for two new additional grammar schools passed by a narrow margin.

Readers in June learned that Harry Evans led over Ethan Lanphear for constable in the primaries and that John Blaine had a lead over Martin Walsh for justice of the peace, but that neither had a sufficient majority to eliminate opposition for the November election. During June frequent meetings for the discussion of incorporation were scheduled and the public invited to attend. Also during June the Chamber of Commerce officially endorsed incorporation.

In July the home of Tex Randall was demolished by fire; Dr. John Mott joined the ranks of practicing physicians in Campbell; on the plea of 80 per cent of the Campbell merchants, the County Planning Commission denied the plea of the Chamber of Commerce to widen Campbell Ave.; the construction of the new Post Office was started; and the sewer tax was lowered.

During August petitions for the incorporation of Campbell were circulated; the George Angusch house burned to the ground; S. Cardinelli's barn burned; and Hunt's Foods Inc. set an all-time production record.

As a pleasant surprise for its readers The Press enlarged to seven columns during September and underwent a general "face-lifting."

In November election winners were Ethan Lanphear and John Blaine.

December was a busy month with the date of the incorporation election set for Jan. 23; and the action of the Board of Supervisors which cut the asked-for industrial zoned area so small that only approximately one acre was added to the already existing industrially zoned and already utilized property. Also during December a crime ring of boys under 17 who had participated in several burglaries was uncovered. Campbell streets bore holiday decorations for the first time in history.

New businesses and business changes took a lot of the limelight during 1946. Among the new ones were: Maderis Food Center, Campbell Taxi Co., Campbell Ice Co., Dresser Drawer, Campbell Frozen Food Lockers, Starling Radio and Appliance Co., Cobblestone Grocery, Stoner Brothers Food Laboratory, Knob and Dial Radio Service, A. C. Currie's Real Estate Office, Brand's Furniture and Appliance Co., Lloyd Nelson Sport Shop, One-Stop Restaurant, Boyd's Cash Grocery, Benson and Jeffers Men's Wear, R. J. Salice's Drug Store scheduled to open soon, the Palm Beauty Room and the ill-fated Cambrian Hardware Co.

Many Campbell business houses changed hands during the year and among those were: Richfield Service Station, One-Stop Restaurant, Boyd's Cash Grocery, Campbell Barber Shop, Campbell Hardware Co., Campbell Pharmacy, Cambrian Inn, Johnnies Place and The What Not. Gene Hodges left Jimmy Arnold's Meat Market and formed a partnership with Bob Földen at Avila's Market; Charles Rose took over his father's Orchard City Grocery; and the Kennedy Water Co. was sold to the San Jose Water Co.

Other evidences of business progress were shown in the expansion of Clark's Drugs; the second phase of the Campbell Water Company's development; and the purchase of a lot by Sunnyside Theaters Inc. on which a new theater will be built in the near future.

Since no industrially zoned site in Campbell was available, Buck Brothers were forced to start their new structural steel business in San Jose as well as many other businessmen who tried to locate in Campbell.

For the first time in many years a branch office of the Farm Labor Office was maintained in Campbell.

Individual and group enterprise were reflected in the formation of a new Baptist Church, the Campbell Rod and Gun Club and the Ne-Tops Council, Degree of Pocatontas. Nick Hedegard gave the American Legion Post property to be used for a Legion Hall and Dan Rose spent most of the year trying to get some of his property zoned for a grocery store but was unsuccessful.

Tennis matches in the late summer proved very popular and attracted large crowds. One of the most intriguing incidents of the year was a physical "free-for-all" in which three women indulged and which ended in the courtroom.

Many columns of the paper were devoted to the homecoming of returned veterans, the announcements of new babies and details of local weddings; on the darker side were the obituaries which told of the passing of Campbell residents. Among those who passed away during the year but will be remembered because of their pioneer status or the contributions they made to the community welfare were: Mrs. Dora Ross, pioneer; John J. Presho, pioneer; Elgin G.

EDITORIAL

An item in today's paper which starts on the front page gives a resume of 1946 news that made headlines in The Press. Most of this news shows a tremendous business gain, an increase in residents and points the way to further developments in a business way during the coming year.

Woefully lacking during the past year were evidences of the community working as a whole for the more intangible assets of a community. Instead the Chamber of Commerce was unable to hold several of its meetings because of a lack of a quorum, public meetings of the Taxpayers' Association were sparsely attended and youth activities in the community were abandoned.

Business development and social responsibility do not always go hand in hand but to have a community of which we can be proud we must have both. Let's hope that 1947 will be a year in which we keep pace in every way with the potentialities of our town.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

As the population of Campbell grows, the problem of traffic becomes more important.

A few months ago my mother-in-law, Mrs. J. L. Wood, was hit at the corner of First and Campbell Avenues by a motorist who did not stop to see that the way was clear across Campbell Avenue, a MAIN thoroughfare. Mrs. Wood's car was seriously damaged, and she was bruised and injured.

Last week my car was hit at the corner of Hamilton and Winchester Roads by a motorist traveling so fast that he could not control his car. The resultant collision caused considerable damage to my car. Unless we have some traffic regulations in Campbell, and an efficient law enforcement agency, neither life or property will be safe.

The recent robberies in the downtown district of Campbell further emphasizes the necessity of adequate law enforcement, and this is the reason I am in favor of "incorporation." It may cost us a little more in taxes, but if we can save one life and eliminate these traffic accidents and robberies, it certainly is worth the cost.

I intend to VOTE for INCORPORATION at the January election, and shall expect our city government to provide the necessary regulations, and to install stop signs where necessary to control traffic, and to provide a law enforcement agency to uphold the regulations.

I urge all registered voters to VOTE in FAVOR of INCORPORATION.

Sincerely yours,

R. E. SCHAFLE,

Campbell Court Notes

By JUDGE BLAINE

Three Campbell men were arrested in a recent week-end for fighting. All pleaded guilty and paid fines of $10 each.

Curious as to where this $30 would go, the judge looked the matter up. This money would be allotted to county charities!

An averages of three Campbell fights a week at $10 a fight would give county charities $1560 a year, which would help a lot.

Now, word has gone out from the sheriff's office that hereafter all fights that demand services of deputies must result in signed complaints and bonified arrests. Hence prospects of numerous fines look pretty good.

There's humor in all this and also need of understanding. Fighting may not be as bad as it at first seems. For certain types of men fighting is a form of recreation. It's recreation, indeed, for most of animal creation. Certainly all animals we know much about fight; and probably doves of peace, which are rather scarce, are no exception.

One winter a California tohee, or brown bird, took a notion to fight its own reflection in the window glass of convenient Campbell sheds. It put on a daily show in the backyard of the Campbell*judge but fled in shame when it found itself observed.

It's normal to fight and normal to feel ashamed for so doing. Men who have fought seldom complain because they are arrested and fined. So here is a perfect setup for county income, with county charities in particular benefiting.

A ticket to a movie fight costs whatever it does. A ticket to your own fight in Campbell will cost $10 and up, according to how the judge feels about it. Of course those who fight will feel ashamed, and of course our community should be ashamed of its fights. Three fights a week seem a reasonable quota.

But don't fight unless you have at least $10. Nobody likes the inside of our scandalous county jail.

Veterans' News

An important deadline for veterans benefits is rapidly approaching. The Veterans Administration is urging all interested ex-GIs to take advantage of the benefits before it is too late.

The deadline affects approximately ten million veterans throughout the nation who have allowed their GI term insurance to lapse. They may reinstate this term insurance on or before February 1, 1947, without a physical examination. All they have to do is sign as statement that their health is as good now as when their policies lapsed and pay premiums for only two months.

Question: "I lost an arm during the war. Am I entitled to a free automobile?"

Answer: No. The laws says that automobiles will be paid for by VA—up to a total cost of $1600—for veterans who lost a leg, or the use of a leg.

An atomic bomb could start a storm under the right conditions, according to a University of California expert.

ETERNAL LIFE

In the gospel of John, chapter 17, verse 3, we learn that it is life eternal to know God and Christ. We read: "And this is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent." The question naturally arises, "How can we know God and Christ?" The same writer, the apostle John, tells us exactly how we can know Christ and know that we know him. We read it in 1 John 2:3, 4: "And hereby we do know that we know him, if we keep his commandments. He that saith, I know him, and keepeth not his commandments, is a liar, and the truth is not in him." But we also learn from the same writer that when we know Christ, we also know God, for he says in his gospel, chapter 8, verse 19: "Then said they unto him, where is thy Father? Jesus answered, Ye neither know me, nor my Father: if ye had known me, ye should have known my Father also." Now all Bible students agree that the commandments of Christ are found in the New Testament, and the words which he spoke were those which the Father gave to him. This we learn in John 14:10. Now to sum up what has been said: We know Christ and God and know that we know them when we keep his commandments. We read in the New Testament: "I have eternal life in me because I obey. Friend, do you want eternal life? Then obey what is commanded for you in the New Testament."

AUDIENCE SET FOR
"STATE OF UNION"

"Rave" notices have been the spontaneous response from critics and audiences for "State of the Union," ever since the hilarious Lindsay and Crouse comedy opened on Broadway almost two years ago. Authors of "Life With Father" and "Arsenic and Old Lace," Lindsay and Crouse know how to create funny situations and to write brilliant, laugh-provoking lines.

HENRY O'NEILL

But "State of the Union" is not only funny, and as good an evening's entertainment as the theatergoer is likely to see on the current stage, but it has "food for thought." Indeed, the claim has been made that "State of the Union" is influencing the 1948 presidential election. "It is a piercing white light cutting through the darkness and showing us what we need: Honest and courageous leadership," wrote the Detroit Free Press.

"State of the Union" will have one performance in San Jose on next Thursday evening, January 9. Tickets are selling very rapidly at the auditorium box office.

CHANGE OF DATE FOR SAN JOSE CONCERT SERIES:

The S. Hurok Original Ballet Russe will come to San Jose for its annual performance on Monday evening, January 27, instead of on February 3 as first announced. The change is necessary due to baggage car complications. Tickets dated February 3 are good on January 27.

DOROTHY GISH TO PLAY IN SAN FRANCISCO

The case of Mary Surratt, from which John Patrick has drawn the data for his new play "The Story of Mary Surratt," is one that apparently is little known and certainly is not included in the history books studied in the schools of today. Mr. Patrick also has woven fiction with fact, until the dramatization of Mary Surratt's life becomes a play of unusual interest. The tenderness of his earlier success "The Hasty Heart" is intensified in this new play, and audiences will feel the power of his plea for the innocence of this woman, the first ever to be hanged in the history of the United States. Most historians concede that the trial was a travesty.

Dorothy Gish has been awarded the title role by the producers, Russell Lewis and Howard Young. They believe she is one of the few actresses in America capable of the role. Kent Smith of the stage and screen will have the part of U. S. Senator Reverdy Johnson. The players include Elizabeth Ross, James Monks, Harlan Briggs, Richard Sanders, Rolland Morris, Bernard Thomas and others in the cast of 40.

"The Story of Mary Surratt" opened at the Geary Theater on Monday, December 30, as the third play of the Theater Guild-American Theater Society season. It will have a three weeks' engagement in San Francisco. Los Angeles will follow with two weeks and then the play will go directly to New York.
